ART MAUI 2019 SYMPOSIUM

Tools For Success
Showing Your Art in Hawaii
FOUR KEY COMPONENTS

Before submitting to any exhibition opportunity we recommend reviewing these four key components:

- ELIGIBILITY
  Do you meet the requirements of the exhibition space in question?

- AUDIENCE
  Will your work be viewed by your intended audience?
  Will the audience appreciate what you have to offer?
  Is your work appropriate for this audience?

- COMMUNITY
  Does this exhibition space foster community?
  Is the community a good fit for you?
  Will the members of the community support you, help you grow, and celebrate your work?
  Will you be able to offer your support to this community?

- ALIGNMENT
  Is this exhibition space and the corresponding audience and community in alignment with your values?
  Does it/they align with your purpose, mission, vision, and goals?
SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Before submitting to any exhibition opportunity we recommend reviewing this tips on how to submit your work:

- Visit venues, in person or online, listed in the directory to see if you could be a good fit.

- Contact the venue for the name and email of the owner, director, or both if not listed in the directory.

- Email the person who manages submissions with photos of your artwork.

- Include information about yourself, where you live, your bio, etc.

- Include information about your artwork: medium, wholesale prices or range, availability, where else you are showing.

- Ask for an appointment to show your work in person.

- Show only your best work or wait and create suitable work for the gallery you would like to be in.

- Show only clean, completed, ready to display pieces.

- If you are accepted, ask for a written agreement. This does not have to be a legal contract.

- Read the agreement carefully to make sure that you fit within the guidelines and that the arrangement works for you.
ART MAUI
Art Maui’s mission is to promote, encourage, and recognize excellence in the visual tactile arts in Maui County. We do this by organizing an annual exhibition of juried art works, and through associated educational events such as symposia. In our annual exhibit, we strive to achieve the highest possible standards of excellence and objectivity.

NORTH AMERICAN JURIED PRINTMAKING EXHIBITION
The Pacific States Biennial National juried printmaking exhibition was established by the Art Department Print Studio at the University of Hawaii'i at Hilo in 1982 and is now the Pacific States Biennial North American. The exhibition is open to all artists 18 years or older presently residing anywhere on the North American continent, its islands, and outlying US territories. This premier Hawaii'i biennial exhibition is hosted in conjunction with the Campus Center Gallery with support from the Student Activities Council and the East Hawaii'i Cultural Center.

Hawaii'i NEI ART CONTEST
Since 2009, Hawaii'i Nei has been a collaboration among the Three Mountain Alliance, Natural Area Reserves System, the Mauna Kea Forest Restoration Project, and Wailoa Arts and Cultural Center. Artists of all ages and skill levels are encouraged to learn more about the plants and animals native to Hawaii'i Island and depict these species in the media of their choosing. As a result the exhibition features works from elementary students to renowned local artists; photography to sculpture: all focusing on the unique flora and fauna that makes our home distinctively Hawaii'i.

AMY LAUREN’S GALLERY
When Amy-Lauren opened her fine art gallery in February 2005, she set out to procure some of the most unique original art on Kauai. The artists that show here do not create thousands of giclee reproductions such as one sees in the big commercial galleries throughout the islands. In this intimate setting in historic Hanapepe, come prepared to fall in love with a beautiful original (or two or three) by the local artists that show here.

DISCLAIMER

This directory is intended for educational purposes only. The use of all images and information herein are essential to this symposiums learning process and non-commercial. It was lovingly and thoughtfully developed by Panna Speas Cappelli and Amanda Michele Dellinger and designed by Amanda as well. If you notice any typos or flaws in the design please bless them and continue reading —we trust that this resource is greater than the sums of its parts.

We do not expect that this is a complete representation of exhibition spaces in the state of Hawaii, though we did our best to find them all. If you are aware of any other spaces that you think should be added to this directory and/or are a business owner and would like your listing added, revised, or removed, please email Amanda with your requests at artsenabler@gmail.com.

GRATITUDE

We’d like to extend a special —THANK YOU— to our esteemed sponsor, Maui Arts and Cultural Center, for their continued support of Art Maui Symposums and for hosting us another year • our major resources that made creating this directory possible: On Maui, Hawaii Art Directory, Art Guide, and Google.com • Jim Powlan for agreeing to be our special guest artist this year • Olivia Manuel for her technical prowess and assistance with data compilation • Rose Potter for marketing and promotions • our friends and family for their encouragement and support • and last but definitely not least, all of the artists who make our world a better place with their creative vision and compassionate voice —this exhibition space directory is dedicated to you— keep working!
Panna Speas Cappelli, world traveler and thirty-year Maui resident, is the owner of Maui Hands Galleries in Paia, Lahaina, Ka’anapali, and Makawao. Launched in 1992 Maui Hands sprung from her desire to represent local artists, artisans, and jewelers. The galleries now represent over 300 artists and host artists-in-residence events monthly. Cappelli a business grad from Florida College of Business sits on the Art Maui and Makawao Merchants Association Board of Directors.

Amanda Michele Dellinger of Arts Enabler is a consultant, coach, and manager helping artists, galleries, and collectors buy/sell/make with intention, integrity, and fearlessness. She is a recent transplant from Seattle, Washington, where she played an integral role in the launch of the inaugural Seattle Art Fair in 2015. Her experience includes thirteen years of administrative work in the for-profit and nonprofit art realms, and seven years of independent curating and community arts activism along the Pacific Coast. Dellinger, a fine art grad from Cornish College of the Arts, is also a practicing artist and sits on the Art Maui Board of Directors.

This year’s featured guest artist, Jim Powlan, is a full time printmaker and metal artist who has lived on Maui since 1980. He creates extraordinary copper etchings, blending East with West, and ancient with contemporary themes. He is represented by Hana Coast Gallery, Maui Hands Makawao, and 105 Fine Art in Wailea. His work can also be seen on Saturdays at the Artists’ Showcase at the Four Seasons Hotel, and the public collections of the Maui Memorial Hospital Outpatient Clinic Lobby, Office of the Mayor, University of Hawaii Maui College, and Gannon’s Restaurant. Powlan has exhibited his work in national juried exhibitions, including Art Maui and most recently the 2018 Pacific States North American Biennial Print Exhibition. In 2013, Powlan was a Juror for the Hui No’eau Visual Art Center’s annual exhibition, The Hui Teaches: Student & Faculty Salon. Powlan has sat on the Art Maui Board of Directors since 2013.
